CHRISTMAS CHEER AT THE IN-STITUTIONS.

No portion of the community look forward to the coming of this important event with greater interest than do those who are the wards of the ners of Charities and Correction and ther institutions that dot the Island of Manhatan and cover the islands in the East River. From resent indications to-day will be as joyous a pristmas to the poor, the hait, the blind, the sick, are young and the aged in the public and private he late financial panic that has affected all classes of the community may possibly be felt a little in a decrease of the bounty provided; but it is believed that all who are charitably disposed will make an effort to cheer the poor and unfortunate by their

The same choice viands and religious instruction will be supplied the immates of the institutions located on WARD'S ISLAND.

The institutions on this island are, the Inchriste Asylum, Soldier's Home and the Lunatic Asylum. At the Soldier's Home and the Lunatic will be fired as noon by the disabled veterans, who there find a pleasant home and kind treatment. The Orphan Asylum on pleasant home and kind treatment. The Orphan Asylum on RANDALL'S ISLAND

Will be one of the most important points for visitors to spend an hour or two in. The Warden has made extensive preparations to bring joy to the hearts of the little orphan girls and boys who are gathered here and educated at the public expense. Beside the usual Christmas dinner, the drill and comic evolutions of the Randall's Island Guard, the boys will be liberally supplied with whistles, miniature guns and tops, and the girls with dolls and other articles provided by the bounty of the Commissioners. The officers of the Reformatory for Juvenile Delinquents on Randall's Island are not behindhand in their observance of the day, and preparations have been made for a genuine Christmas observance, in which addresses, religious services, music and games will form distinguishing features.

rices, music and games will form distinguishing features.

ON HART'S ISLAND.

The public institutions on Hart's Island will also come in for a share of the fat turkeys, chickens, puddings and other delicacles.

THE TOMES.

Warden Johnson will act as master of ceremonies at the dinner to be given to the inmates of the Tombs, which will be served about one o'clock. One familiar face will be missed, that of Sharkey, who will doubtless wash down his Christmas turkey with choice wines and supplement it with fragrant Havana cigars, the Christmas presents of his many friends outside prison walls.

This is the day when the little Warden, Mr. Brennan, of Bellevue Hospital, is usually in his element, hurrying hither and thither among his dirty-faced habitude, cracking Jokes with the "O'Kelly Don." punching "Corkey Mary" in the ribs and issuing his orders to his army of cooks and waiters. About noon he will display his great fowl entertainment for the quick consumption of the limates of the institution. In the evening he will give a grand full dress ball, when the occupants will appear in whatever dress is full of flesh and blood, and a variety show will also be provided for their entertainment.

Private Charities.

The officers of all the private charitable institutions of the city will appropriately celebrate the day and provide for the spiritual and temporal af-fairs of those under their charge.

THE ROWARD MISSION

and Home for Little Wanderers, in the New Bowery, will be a point of interest for visitors, and, no doubt, many will gladden the "little wanderers" by their presence and their contributions.

THE FIVE POINTS MISSION

The Wall street situation to-day was so ov shadowed by the bright, fresh pictures of Chr mas that little was done in the way of maki themes for the dull, dry statements of a mon article. The Stock Exchange adjourned at o o'clock, the Gold board at about the same tin Meanwhile the "boys" indulged in all that w nonsensical. They blew horns and swore etern fealty, marched in solemn procession, made it inter-personally, treated each other like prince "on the street"—and paid out greenbacks ples fully to the beggar men and women outside. There is no class of people so generous at heart the Wall street speculator. He may lose or gabut the very habit of deading with great value makes him magnificent in his charities, and where the street was the street w such a holiday as Christmas rolls around, th are few among the members of our commun who give so freely from their resources and p such noble tribute to the hearty associations the day. ## COMMERCIAL REPORT.

Cotton Steady for "Spot" and Firmer for Future - Flour Dull - Wheat Steady-Corn and Oats Lower-Pork and Lard Easter-Groceries Quiet, but Steady - Freights Steady - Petroleum Unchanged-Naval Stores Dull-Whiskey Lower. WEDNESDAY, Dec. 24-6 P. M.

There has been but a moderate degree of activity in trade circles during the day, the mercantile public, in common with everybody else, being engaged in preparations for the Christmas holiday. The general merchandise markets were quiet as a general thing, and there were few important changes either on or off 'Change. Flour was quiet and steady. Wheat was in moderate demand and realized former prices. Corn and oats were dull and lower. Provisions were in moderate request, but at prices favoring the buyer. Groceries were quiet, but steady. Cotton was steady for lots on the spot and firmer for forward delivery. Petroleum was quiet and steady. Naval stores remained dull. Whiskey was in moderate demand and easier.

Cotton.—The transactions in spot cotton were moderate and prices were not quotably changed. For future delivery business was fair at an advance of 1-16c. a %c. per lb. We quote:—
